Recall Process Management
Recall Process Management

- Once a non-compliance or defect is determined to exist, it must be reported to NHTSA within 5 working days.
- The mechanism for reporting the non-compliance or defect is the “Part 573” filing.
- Sale of the recalled product must stop immediately.
- The manufacturer must notify purchasers in accordance with regulatory requirements (Part 577) & replace or repair at no cost to the consumer.
- The manufacturer must ensure dealers/distributors are made aware of safety recalls and their associated rights and responsibilities.
- Manufacturers are required to submit quarterly report as outlined in the regulations (Part 573).
Recall Process Management (Cntd.)

- The success of a tire recall relies upon the tire manufacturer’s ability to locate the purchasers of the defective tires.
- Unlike other safety recalls, tire recalls have an expiration of 60 days (49 U.S.C. 30120). Some manufacturers extend beyond that time frame but that would be within their discretion.
- NHTSA may direct the manufacturer to send a follow-up notification if the prior notification(s) has not resulted in an adequate number of tires being returned for remedy or replacement.
NHTSA may recommend the tire manufacturers reach out to the affected owners by

- Putting up signs by the counters or on the walls of the dealerships;
- Taking out ads in magazines that cater to the affected crowd (such as RV, trucking or car enthusiast);
- Posting to the manufacturer’s website, facebook account or to forums likely visited by the affected owner.

NHTSA’s Efforts to Increase Tire Registration & Recall Completion Rate

- New TireWise Website: NHTSA launched its TireWise (http://www.safercar.gov/tires/index.html) campaign that provides consumers and retailers with essential information about choosing and caring for tires, urging consumers to register purchased tires.

- Apps: NHTSA launched a new “SaferCar” app that will provide users free access to key safety information.

- New Mandatory Safety Recall Notice Label: All manufacturers must use a distinctive safety recall notice label on required mailings that notify owners of recalled vehicles or equipment.
Recall Notification Alert: Consumers and tire dealers can subscribe online at www.safercar.gov to receive an email notification when a manufacturer intends to conduct a new tire recall.

Outreach to Tire Industry: Conducted two presentations at International Tire and Exhibition Conference (ITEC 2014) to the tire dealers and tire manufacturers to make them aware of their responsibilities pertaining to tire registration.
