

National Transportation Safety Board

An Independent U.S. Federal Government Agency

DEBORAH D. HALL

Coordinator, Victim Services

Deborah D. Hall is the Coordinator, Victim Services, for the National Transportation Safety Board, Office of Transportation Disaster Assistance. She joined the NTSB staff in June 2007 after a 26-year Federal career, primarily with the United States Air Force.

From 1998 to 2007, Debi served as the Director of the Dover Air Force Base Airman & Family Readiness Center/Family Support Center, which included oversight of the Emergency Family Assistance Control Center (EFACC). During her tenure as the Director, she managed the family assistance response to the crew, passengers, and military families affected by the C-5 crash in Dover, Delaware, in April 2006.

Since joining the Board, she participated in the family assistance responses to the Minneapolis bridge collapse, general aviation accidents in Washington and Oregon as well as the collision of an Amtrak passenger train with a freight train in Chicago and the collision of a MetroLink and freight train in California. She also responded to the February 2009 aviation accident in Buffalo. Debi serves as the NTSB's principal liaison with the headquarters of the American Red Cross to coordinate the provision of disaster mental health services to victims and families affected by transportation disasters.

Debi is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker (LCSW) in the state of Delaware and was previously licensed in Illinois and Ohio. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology from Bryn Mawr College, Pennsylvania, and her Master's Degree in Social Work (MSW) from Arizona State University.

Deborah Hall

NTSB

Dedicated to Excellence